

8.3 Question 3

8.3.A Why does ESP include a Padding Field?

The padding within the Encapsulation Security Payload is used in order to achieve a certain block length, align the padding length and the next header, and to conceal the packet length.